GOVERNOR FLAYS TRANSPORTATION ACT IN ADDRESS

BLAINE HITS ESCH-CUMMINS MEASURE AS BARRIER TO RETURN OF PROSPERITY TO STATE

Madison, Wis., Dec. 31—The Esch-Cummins transportation act is flayed by Gov. J. J. Blaine today in a New Year's message to the people of Wisconsin in which he expresses the belief that "an entire reorganization of our transportation systems under a just law will be necessary before there is a general return to economic condition that produce contentment and happiness."

The governor says that he "has faith and confidence that the blessings of a happy and prosperous New Year are possible to be realized. With slow progress," he declares, "the darkness of adversity is passing and with its passing the light of better times will break."

His message continues as follows:

"Wisconsin, in common with other parts of this country and of the world, has paid the toll of congressional and economic folly. In some degree we are consoled by the fact that due to the wisdom of our own people we have not suffered to the extent of some of the other states of the Union.

Burden On People.

However, our farmers, industrial and railroad workers, manufacturers, and merchants have been made to feel the evil effects of the transportation act foisted upon us through the Esch-Cummins law; but fortunately the people of the entire country are awakening to its iniquities and Congress at last is giving signs that portend to modification if not the absolute repeal of this iniquitus statute that like the old man of the sea, has been resting upon the people, making profitable interchange impossible.

Wisconsin was the first state to realize the iniquities of this measure. Its Congressional voice, by an overwhelming majority registered its protest at the time of its enactment.

Wisconsin, ever watchful of the people, took the lead and now we are hopeful that a majority in Congress will take a stand to relieve the country from the stiffling effects of that law.

Prosperity Will Come

MARKETING NOW IS BIG PROBLEM

QUESTION FACING FARMERS IS EFFICIENT DISTRIBUTION, NOT INCREASED PRODUCTION

Madison, Wis., Dec. 31.—The problem of most efficiently and economically marketing the products from the $3,531,000,000 investment in Wisconsin agriculture has ben undertaken by the state department of markets, organized in its present form by the last legislature, L. G. Foster, deputy commissioner of markets declares in the department's first annual report today.

In a survey of the work and program of the department, Mr. Foster emphasizes that the task of greatest importance for agriculture in the near future will be that of realizing more efficient distribution. Increased production per farm, which previously has been held of prime importance, must in the belief of Mr. Foster, take second place.

Must Cooperate

The most marked possibility for greater efficiency and economy in distribution, according to the report, "lies in the willingness and ability of farmers to organize on a commodity basis for the purpose of affecting a distribution agency," in other words, in the establishment of farmers cooperative marketing federations, based on commodity production.

With the idea of strengthening those organizations which have already set about to form distributing agencies, it is pointed out that the department of markets this year has assisted 40 federations in financing, warehousing, transportation, and merchandising problems.

The principal lines of work which the department is prosecuting with a view to bringing about needed reforms in marketing are described by Mr. Foster as standardization, market news service, marketing business practice, cooperative agreements, investigation and organization of cooperative distributing agencies.

Enforce Standards

Standards have been promulgated and enforced on potatoes, cabbage, honey, and apples, while standards grading cheese and butter will go into effect before spring. Cheese grades will be classed by licensed graders who obtain their stamps thru the state department of markets.

Enforcement of grades has required the establishment of an inspection system. At present there are a total of 337 licensed potato inspectors covering 417 shipping points in 54 counties of the state. Additional

SUB ATTACKS ON MERCHANT SHIPS WILL BE BARRED

PARIS REPORTS DELEGATES WILL AGREE; BRITISH ATTACK FRENCH MOTIVES ON SUBMARINE QUESTION

(By Associated Press)

Paris, Dec. 31—The French delegation at Washington is understood in official quarters to have already given its hearty assent to the application of international law to the operation of submarines, which according to French interpretations satisfies the demands of Britain that the submarine in war time be prohibited from torpedoing merchant ships.

Clash Over Subs

Washington, Dec. 31—A bitter clash between the British and French delegations over the motives underlying the French submarine building program took place at the naval committee meeting yesterday afternoon.

Lord Lee of the British delegation challenged the French to demonstrate their good faith by assenting to the Root resolution prohibiting the employment of submarines against commerce, and M. Sarraut intimated such assent would be forthcoming in formal instructions from the French government.

While further consideration of the Root submarine resolution was postponed until the French and Italian delegations receive their instructions, the committee made such progress that the drafting of the treaty on limitation of naval armaments was begun.

What Treaty Will Provide

The treaty will provide for the reduction and limitation of capital ship tonnage and limitation of airplane carrier tonnage, for a naval holiday in the construction of all ships except submarines and auxiliaries, for the limitation of size of all ships and of the gun caliber of auxiliary craft and airplane carriers, for outlawing submarine warfare on commerce and for maintenance of the status quo of navla bases and fortifications in the Pacific.

Balfour Will Go

A definite decision has been made by Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British delegation at the arms conference, to sail for home January 4, it was announced today. He will be accompanied by Lord Lee, leaving Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador, here to wind up conference matters.

The most marked possibility for greater efficiency and economy in distribution, according to the report, "lies in the willingness and ability of farmers to organize on a commodity basis for the purpose of affecting a distribution agency," in other words, in the establishment of farmers cooperative marketing federations, based on commodity production.

With the idea of strengthening those organizations which have already set about to form distributing agencies, it is pointed out that the department of markets this year has assisted 40 federations in financing, warehousing, transportation, and merchandising problems.

The principal lines of work which the department is prosecuting with a view to bringing about needed reforms in marketing are described by Mr. Foster as standardization, market news service, marketing business practice, cooperative agreements, investigation and organization of cooperative distributing agencies.

Enforce Standards

Standards have been promulgated and enforced on potatoes, cabbage, honey, and apples, while standards grading cheese and butter will go into effect before spring. Cheese grades will be classed by licensed graders who obtain their stamps thru the state department of markets.

Enforcement of grades has required the establishment of an inspection system. At present there are a total of 337 licensed potato inspectors covering 417 shipping points in 54 counties of the state. Additional

SUB ATTACKS ON MERCHANT SHIPS WILL BE BARRED

PARIS REPORTS DELEGATES WILL AGREE; BRITISH ATTACK FRENCH MOTIVES ON SUBMARINE QUESTION

(By Associated Press)

Paris, Dec. 31—The French delegation at Washington is understood in official quarters to have already given its hearty assent to the application of international law to the operation of submarines, which according to French interpretations satisfies the demands of Britain that the submarine in war time be prohibited from torpedoing merchant ships.

Clash Over Subs

Washington, Dec. 31—A bitter clash between the British and French delegations over the motives underlying the French submarine building program took place at the naval committee meeting yesterday afternoon.

Lord Lee of the British delegation challenged the French to demonstrate their good faith by assenting to the Root resolution prohibiting the employment of submarines against commerce, and M. Sarraut intimated such assent would be forthcoming in formal instructions from the French government.

While further consideration of the Root submarine resolution was postponed until the French and Italian delegations receive their instructions, the committee made such progress that the drafting of the treaty on limitation of naval armaments was begun.

What Treaty Will Provide

The treaty will provide for the reduction and limitation of capital ship tonnage and limitation of airplane carrier tonnage, for a naval holiday in the construction of all ships except submarines and auxiliaries, for the limitation of size of all ships and of the gun caliber of auxiliary craft and airplane carriers, for otulawing submarine warfare on commerce and for maintenance of the status quo of navla bases and fortifications in the Pacific.

Balfour Will Go

A definite decision has been made by Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British delegation at the arms conference, to sail for home January 4, it was announced today. He will be accompanied by Lord Lee, leaving Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador, here to wind up conference matters.

Madison, Dec. 31—The wife of John A. (Dogskin) Johnson, serving a life sentence for the murder of Anne Lemberger ten years ago, took the witness stand today in the preliminary hearing on the charge of second degree murder now being brought against Lemberger, father of the child.

She was preceded by Mrs. Lemberger, whose husband is now charged with the crime for which Johnson has served ten years of a life sentence. Mrs. Mae Sorenson, whose testimony at the pardon hearing of Johnson was the basis of the charges against Lemberger, will take the stand late today.

HARDING MAY ACT TO HALT STRIKE

Omaha, Dec. 31—George Christian, secretary to President Harding, today informed Mayor James Dahlman of Omaha that serious consideration was being given to the recent appeal to the president to use his good offices to settle the strike in the packing industry.

KEEP OLD GLORY ON THE SEAS

While the war-conceived American merchant marine has cost the country a "pretty penny" and will continue to make a drain on the treasury for some time to come, it is far from being a total loss and eventually may prove able to carry itself. There are some positive compensations for the outlay and continuing, as revealed in the annual report of the shipping board.

Before the war ships of United states registry carried but 9.7 per cent of our foreign trade, while in the last fiscal year they carried 39.8 per cent. True, this shows a falling off as compared with the record of 1920, but the maintenance of business by our ships to this extent proves that there is a satisfactory future for the enterprise if conditions are made suitable.

The falling freight rates and other causes to which the board refers as contributing to the decline of American cargoes for American craft signify the increase of competition, which will grow as foreign merchant fleets depleted in the war are restored to normal numbers, and navigation laws are made more favorable for competing carriers.

Old Glory having been made familiar in every port of the globe, the peoples of the world should not be permitted again to forget what it looks like.

LOTS OF SUNS.

Stargazers have not always been taken seriously but they have their mission if only to keep common folk from getting too big head. Most of our ideas of bigness are relative. The country boy measures the bigness of the county seat. He becomes so travel wise as not to be impressed by the magnitude of the earth.

But a world as a result of astronomers is engaged in a work which in the imagination capable of grasping it, reduces our earth to a speck of dust. On Mt. Wilson, using the huge Hooker telescope, and simultaneously in the observatory at Arequipa, Peru, the work of photographing the entire area of the starry heavens goes forward. The result is a revelation even to the astronomers.

Years of arduous toil will be required to complete the task, but already enough has been accomplished to give the basis of stupendous estimates. Already the experts are predicting that the count of suns will total more than 3,000,000,000. And most of the three billion suns are bigger than our luminary.

To the fellow who gets an exaggerated notion of his own importance a few suggestions of universal bigness may be salutary. Let him think of our great world, 25,000 miles in circumference. Then tell him that big as our world is, 330,000 of them would be required to make a mass of the size of our sun. And then lead him on to imagine 3,000,000,000 other suns, each, perhaps, encircled by its own system of planets, and every sun of them bigger than our sun, and then ask him how much he stacks up in such a layout. Nothing could be better devised for the reduction of a magnified ego.

THE DIFFERENCE.

Washington correspondents say the four-power treaty for peace in the Pacific will be ratified by the United States senate because "there's no Article X in it." According to Woodrow Wilson, Article X is "the very heart" of the covenant of the League of Nations which he undertook in vain to get the senate to ratify without reservations.

Perceiving that this highly desirable plan for insurance against war, upon which America, Great Britain, France and Japan have agreed, is sure to go through, a few disgruntled Democrats, suffering from chronic partisan stigmatism, are now professing to be gratified at the coming around of Republicans to the original League of Nations scheme and declare that Woodrow Wilson has thus been vindicated. The fact is, of course, that the difference between this proposed pact and Article X of the league covenant is that of day from night. As Senator Lodge says, the powers entering into this new agreement are going to ake the novel experiment of trusting to each other's good faith to work for the common good and keep the peace. Any nation that should break its solemn pledge to submit a controversy to a joint conference of these powers would automatically place itself outside the pale of civilized governments.

This compact relates to matters in which our government and the others have a direct interest of ownership. We say that in these matters which directly concern us and over which we naturally have control we agree to submit any disputes to the consideration of all having similar interests with a view to amicable adjustment. Article X would have pledged us to interfere in matters that did not concern us in the slightest, and to help to maintain for all time the apportionments of territory and the governments set up by the Paris peace conference, however contrary to principles of justice and fair dealing. Furthermore, it would have placed our military forces at the command of a super government to help enforce its dictates in disputes which we had no concern. Some defenders of the league covenant asserted that implied no such compelling obligation. Then all that Republican senators asked was a reservation plainly stating that fact and pointing out that we reserved freedom of decision. This and similar reasonable reservations were rejected by Mr. Wilson and his associates.

The great difference between the Pacific four-power compact and Article X is that the former deals directly with matters that are emphatically our business and that the other is a trouble-maker, potential of more war rather than of peace. The almost unanimous approval of the arrangement both at home and abroad should encourage the members of the Washington conference to further distinguished efforts for the peace of the world.

THE TELEPHONE GIRL

If you were a telephone girl and stood at a switchboard in a rush hour, and if some one took the telephone off the hook when there were forty other people doing the same thing within a minute, and if that person having waited ten seconds should ask if you were asleep, how would you like it?

If you were a telephone girl and you had eighteen telephone wires with plugs at the ends inserted in eighteen connections to enable thirty-six people to talk, and there were seven of these close together and a couple of people hung up their phones and you pulled out of the maze the wrong wire and cut two people off from talking, would you think it fair if either of the victims swore a little and asked if you were out late last night?

If you were at the switchboard and some one asked for a connection and the person desired did not answer the telephone, and if the party calling rattled the receiver rapidly, instead of slowly, as he should, and the rattling of the phone hook did not register in the office, and if after a while he did get into communication with you, would you like him to ask you if you thought you were enjoying a "pink tea?"

It would, no doubt, do us all good to put ourselves in the other person's place whenever we are inclined to find fault with public service. Gas, electric light, trolley car, telephone, it is all the same. The employees generally do their work as well as they can.—Editorial, Manchester (N. H.) Daily Union and American.

And we girl want to put ourselves in your places too, and make no excuses. We are anxious to give you the best service possible under the limitations. We are actually answering from 13,000 to 15,000 calls each day and sometimes these calls come in "mountain high". It is at these times that we ask you all to be patient as we must be when you "scold".

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS — Looking for Excitement — BY ALLMAN

AUSTRALIA AFTER MORE INHABITANTS

Melbourne—Australia wants 11,000,000 more inhabitants as soon as she can get them and prefers that they should be of good, white stock, preferably of British derivation. This additional population is regarded as necessary to develop the resources of the country.

In the light of those figures, Australia can hardly be said to be entirely satisfied with the arrival of 20,000 former soldiers of the United Kingdom who have emigrated to Australia under the government emigration scheme since the war. This movement is a little too slow to suit Australia. Australian government officials point out that Great Britain expended nearly $1,500,000,000 in 1920 in public assistance to unemployed and others and they add that much of this might have been saved if these idle persons had been transported to Australia where they could have supported themselves.

The reported capture of the Wall Street bomber is said to read "like a romance," and possibly is, having in mind previous "solutions" of that mystery.

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS — Looking for Excitement — BY ALLMAN

AUSTRALIA AFTER MORE INHABITANTS

Melbourne—Australia wants 11,000,000 more inhabitants as soon as she can get them and prefers that they should be of good, white stock, preferably of British derivation. This additional population is regarded as necessary to develop the resources of the country.

In the light of those figures, Australia can hardly be said to be entirely satisfied with the arrival of 20,000 former soldiers of the United Kingdom who have emigrated to Australia under the government emigration scheme since the war. This movement is a little too slow to suit Australia. Australian government officials point out that Great Britain expended nearly $1,500,000,000 in 1920 in public assistance to unemployed and others and they add that much of this might have been saved if these idle persons had been transported to Australia where they could have supported themselves.

The reported capture of the Wall Street bomber is said to read "like a romance," and possibly is, having in mind previous "solutions" of that mystery.

NEW O'BRIEN PLAY POSSESSES UNUSUAL PLOT CONSTRUCTION

Novel Screen Story Told in "Is Life Worth Living?"

An unusual departure in plot features of Eugene construction is one of the O'Brien's new Selznick picture, "Is Life Worth Living?" which will be the featured attraction at the Palace Theater on Sunday, January 1.

It is the customary thing to have a screen hero dangle his heart at the feet of a superior being in the form of the feminine pursued, but in this new production Mr. O'Brien, as Melville Marley, a despondent and discouraged chap, finds himself enchanted by no less a person than a more despondent stenographer, penniless and without friends.

Winifrel Westover is seen as Lois Wilday, whom adverse fortune has thrown mercilessly upon the world. Such a girl is seldom known as the heroine to a popular story. But Lois, unfortunate as she is, meets Marlay, who is even in worse circumstances, and together they find their inspiration and ultimate happiness in each other.

"Is Life Worth Living?" is said to be one of the best plays in which O'Brien has appeared. The picture was made from a Saturday Evening Post story, "The Open Door," by George Weston, and was directed by Alan Crosland.

Aside from Mr. O'Brien and Miss Westover, there is a large cast which includes the names of Arthur Housman, a "heavy" of wide repute; Warren Cook, George Lessey, Flora Kingsley, and others.

W. J. WILL HOLD BEAR SCORE LOW

Los Angeles, Cal.—The California-Washington and Jefferson battle at Pasadena promises to be the lowest score match of any of the big football events of the year, in the opinion of Herbert Rawlinson, former football writer and athletic director of the Denver Athletic club and now a movie star.

"California has a stronger team than the one that defeated Ohio State in the 1920 New Year's game," said Rawlinson. "But Washington and Jefferson is proportionately a better machine than the 1920 Ohioans.

"The result is going to be a fast, brilliant and brainy game—and a mighty low score. California's aerial game is the prettiest I have ever seen. But Coach Neale of W. and J. will have a defense to counter it.

"The man who piloted W. and J. through a season of eastern football without defeat is not going to let California run away with the game on forward passes, no matter what western fans think.

"It's going to be a battle of brains and generalship as well as of football beef this year.

"Two all-American stars are to oppose each other, a fact that should inject dynamite into the play. Muller, the sensational end of the coast eleven, is one of the players chosen for the mythical all stars. The easterners are represented by Capt. Stein at tackle.

"Stein is of the roving type. He plays tackle, end and halfback to suit the occasion. He is the outstanding star of the eastern team.

"Mueller is the superman of the California eleven. It's going to be interesting and then some to compare the work of these two all-American stars when they are pitted against each other.

To aid farmers in securing reliable market information the department has established a news service which reaches daily news papers of the state with a circulation of 447,497, supplemented by a daily bulletin sent to 3,000 persons, and a radio leased market wire is maintained with the leading centers of the country.

Uniform accounting systems for cooperating associations have been worked out by the marketing business practice division under Mr. Foster. This work is regarded as of special importance in building up a sound basis for farmers organizations.

Assist Organizations

Study of transportation has been carried out and investigations made into the costs of milk distribution, coal, and other subjects. Its cost of distribution studies are regarded as of special importance and are to be carried on with a broader scale in cooperation with the federal government and surrounding states.

The Wisconsin cheese producers federation has been assisted in its organization and financing by the state department which has actively cooperated with its officers. The report says that 17 new factories were added to the federation during the year in Fond du Lac county alone.

A state-wide tobacco marketing association was originally planned and some organiation work done, but the proposal finally dropped for the time being, through inability to enlist support of a sufficient number of growers. To assist tobacco marketing the department has helped in establishing bonded warehouses both under state and federal laws.

Consideration is being given to a cooperative creamery association as another commodity organization within the dairy industry of the state.

Greatest attention is paid to assisting farmers and aiding Wisconsin agriculture, the report points out.

FIRST ANNUAL BANQUET GIVEN AT SION CHURCH

SION LUTHERAN CHURCH HOLDS BANQUET IN CHURCH BASEMENT — CHURCH SHOWS REMARKABLE GROWTH IN PAST YEAR.

The first annual banquet of the Sion Lutheran Church was held in the church basement on Thursday evening, given by the Luther League, composed of the young people of the parish. A three course banquet was served.

Rev. Fred Olson, pastor of the church acted as toastmaster of the evening. The first number was a song "My Old Country Home," by Wm. Kronholm. John Worlund gave an address on "The Past", bringing out the rapid growth of the parish during the past year. Mrs. John Worlund sang two solos, "Looking Upward" and "The End of a Perfect Day" in a very pleasing manner.

Many Good Talks

The subject, "Our Parents" was given by Stanley Holberg, who brought out the love of parents for their children and the sacrifices they make which, when the children are grown up, are fully appreciated. The next number was a duet, "Whispering Love", sung by Emma Worlund and Ina Kronholm. Chas. Johnson spoke on "Our Children." He stated that the greatest gift was our children and the greatest gift we can give them is religion.

Big Success

Miss Maurine Lindahl gave an especially good talk on "Loyalty". The whole affair was a great success in every way and the committee on arrangements deserves much praise for their fine work. The phonograph used during the evening was furnished by the Daly Music Co.

Rev. Olson stated that he was very well pleased with the progress made during the past year, and that the pledges taken up the past year were bigger than ever before.

Bunco Party—

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Damitz will entertain the following people this evening at a Bunco party: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitrock, Mrs. E. Stilwell, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Perham, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Yetter, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Franson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Van Gorder and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Middlesteadt.

quire toll to be paid upon fictitious values and watered stock, the farmers may again market their products at a fair return, the purchasing power of agriculture will be increased, manufacturing will be stimulated and men who are willing to work but forced into idleness will find employment. I feel that an entire reorganization of our transportation systems under a just law will be necessary before there is a general return to economic conditions that produce contentment and happiness.

Must Meet Demand

The return of better times will be due to the awakening of the people's representatives to the danger of political oblivion for those who fail to respond to rightful demands that such representatives respond to the people's wil lthen we have popular government, but when the representatives respond to an invisible power, with its hands upon government, then the pretenses of democracy are shams.

It is true the will of the people may be defeated again and again, but we can see the future pregnant with the possibilities for the success that gives the people strength to struggle on until the last wrong has been righted.

Sees Progress Ahead

The general movement for better things will carry on during the year we are entering. We will progress in the work of wiping out the undemocratic and repressive legislation that so quickly smothered representative government, and will again achieve that state of free, open, and fearless discussion of all matters pertaining to our political and economic life.

In a word, we are in a measure killing autocratic rule; we are up-building democracy.

Wisconsin has pointed the war in righting economic wrongs and in holding high the torch of liberty and justice, and for that we are proud.

With faith and confidence in the future, we can look forward to the new year, when Wisconsin will not only uphold and preserve her best traditions, but will go forward earnestly and constructively in accomplishing those things necessary to greater happiness and prosperity.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

To all of our friends, we extend our heartiest greetings and wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

FIRST ANNUAL BANQUET GIVEN AT SION CHURCH

SION LUTHERAN CHURCH HOLDS BANQUET IN CHURCH BASEMENT — CHURCH SHOWS REMARKABLE GROWTH IN PAST YEAR.

The first annual banquet of the Sion Lutheran Church was held in the church basement on Thursday evening, given by the Luther League, composed of the young people of the parish. A three course banquet was served.

Rev. Fred Olson, pastor of the church acted as toastmaster of the evening. The first number was a song "My Old Country Home," by Wm. Kronholm. John Worlund gave an address on "The Past", bringing out the rapid growth of the parish during the past year. Mrs. John Worlund sang two solos, "Looking Upward" and "The End of a Perfect Day" in a very pleasing manner.

Many Good Talks

The subject, "Our Parents" was given by Stanley Holberg, who brought out the love of parents for their children and the sacrifices they make which, when the children are grown up, are fully appreciated. The next number was a duet, "Whispering Love", sung by Emma Worlund and Ina Kronholm. Chas. Johnson spoke on "Our Children." He stated that the greatest gift was our children and the greatest gift we can give them is religion.

Big Success

Miss Maurine Lindahl gave an especially good talk on "Loyalty". The whole affair was a great success in every way and the committee on arrangements deserves much praise for their fine work. The phonograph used during the evening was furnished by the Daly Music Co.

Rev. Olson stated that he was very well pleased with the progress made during the past year, and that the pledges taken up the past year were bigger than ever before.

Bunco Party—

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Damitz will entertain the following people this evening at a Bunco party: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitrock, Mrs. E. Stilwell, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Perham, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Yetter, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Franson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Van Gorder and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Middlestaedt.

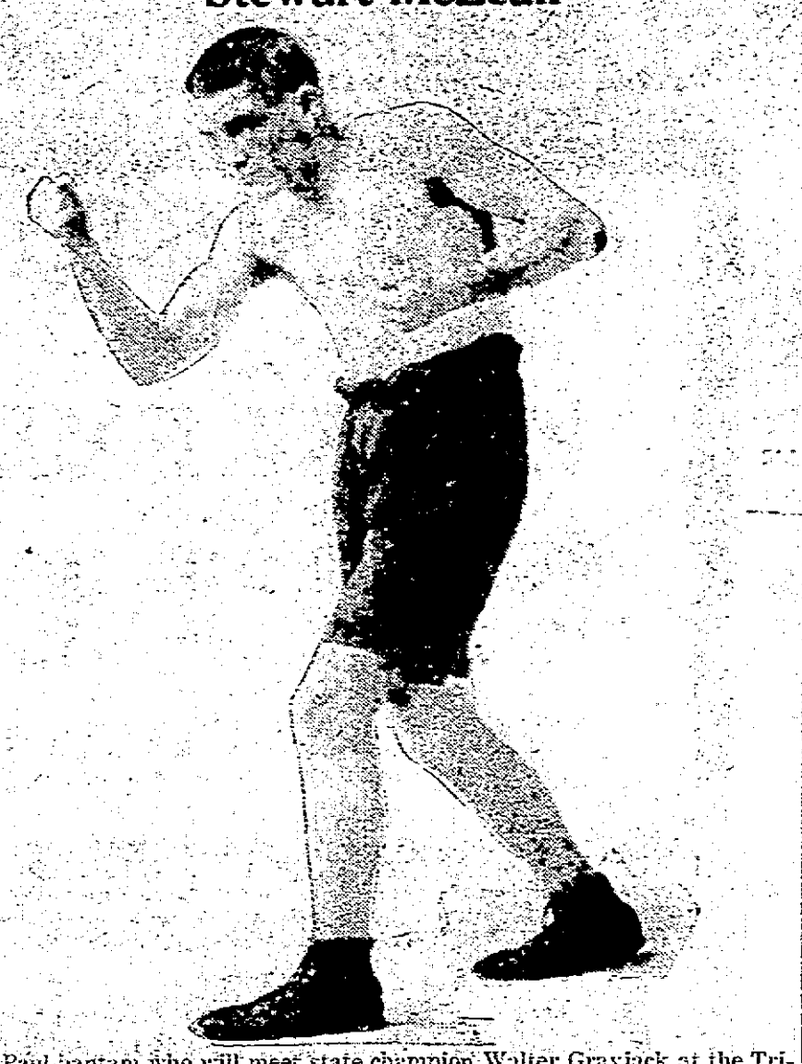
Stewart McLean



St. Paul bantam who will meet state champion Walter Grayjack at the Tri-City A. C. show here next Thursday.

Walter Grayjack Signed To Meet Stewart McLean

Walter Grayjack, Wisconsin bantam-weight champion, has been signed by Promoter John Farley to meet Stewart McLean, the fast St. Paul 122 pounder, in the wind-up of the show at Daly's theater next Thursday.

Farley went after Grayjack immediately upon hearing that Al Beyar would be unable to appear, and by keeping the wires between this city, Milwaukee and St. Paul hot all day yesterday, finally secured the agreement of all parties to the change in program.

Grayjack Going Fast

Grayjack has been knocking them over around Milwaukee for several months, and has appeared as a headliner in such cities as Rockford, Ill., and Racine. Tommy Andrews, the Milwaukee promoter who is putting on the Leonard-Mitchell bout at the auditorium the fifth, tried to get him on the card for that bout, but was unable to find a boy in his class who was willing to meet him. He is regarded as a comer in bantam-weight circles, and is leaving for New York in the near future to meet some of the class of the eastern boys.

Will Be Real Scrap

McLean has been raring for a chance with Grayjack ever since he knocked out Jimmie Valentine, who held the Milwaukee fighter to a draw. A defeat for Grayjack would be a severe blow to his future prospects, while a victory for McLean would be about the biggest boost he could get to his career in the ring. Both boys will be out to give all they have, and local fans are promised a real treat.

The seat sale for the show has been on for several days, and the report is that the better chairs are going fast and will undoubtedly be gone several days before the fights. The cheaper seats are also going rapidly, and the promoters are confident of a packed house.

The unemployment situation might not be so serious if persons who do not want to work could be separated from the others.

INDIANA TO TRY NEW SCHEME FOR DEVELOPING TEAM

ALL HEALTHY MALES WILL BE FORCED INTO GRID COMPETITION, ACCORDING TO LATEST PLAN

Indianapolis, Ind.—A new system in football training is being worked out at Indiana University for introduction next fall, according to Roscoe (Cow) Minton, former Indiana gridiron star and coach of the freshman squad last season. The plans were let out at the recent banquet here of the Indianapolis Alumni for the team. Here are some of the proposals.

"Dates" will be barred completely during football seasons at Indiana hereafter.

All Must Try Out

All "he-men" are expected to try out for the football team.

Only a physician's certificate of inability will prevent a student, who does not appear in football togs from being placed on the "slacker" list.

Freshmen will be taught football instead of trying to learn the plays of the different elevens Indiana will meet during the season.

Second, third, and fourth elevens, will be used for the 'varsity battering ram so that the freshmen, when they become eligible for the 'varsity, will know something about football instead of merely having a conglomerate mass of plays as used by the universities of the central west running through their heads.

The plan has met with favor among the faculty and undergraduates at the University and was received enthusiastically by the alumni.

Develop New Spirit

A new spirit has dawned already at the university, according to reports at the dinner. It was related how one athlete did not want to get mussed up by tackling opposing players in forming interference for the man with the ball. He therefore, spent most of last season warming the bench and was almost completely ostracized by his classmates, the coeds in particular, it is said.

Coach Ewald O. Stiehm told of the difficulties of schedule making and stated that while the 1922 football card was not all that could be desired, it was the best obtainable and made a better schedule possible for 1923.

Indiana's 1922 football schedule follows:

Oct. 7. De pauw at Bloomington.
Oct. 14. Minnesota at Indianapolis (correct).
Oct. 21. Wisconsin at Madison.
Oct. 28. Michigan Aggies at Bloomington.
Nov. 4. Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind.
Nov. 11. West Virginia at Bloomington (Home coming game).
Nov. 18. (Open).
Nov. 25. Purdue at Lafayette, Ind.

LEONARD EXPECTS TO PUT KAYO ON MITCHELL

Milwaukee, Dec. 31—"I never felt better. I'm down to within a few pounds of the 135 pound mark and I'll make that figure for the fight, greatly as it may surprise some folks. I look for a hard fight. I know Mitchell is out to avenge the defeat of his brother and I'm going to take no chances. If I can put him away in one round it will end there. I hope to win by a knockout."

That is Champion Benny Leonard's version of his forthcoming roped arena argument with Pinkey Mitchell at the Auditorium Monday afternoon. The champion made this statement upon his arrival in Milwaukee shortly before noon on Friday.

Leonard predicting a knockout victory over an adversary is not to be taken any too lightly. The champ is a man of his word and although Pink Mitchell may have something to say or do about such a statement the fact that Benny says he will try to score a kayo is nothing to be sneezed at.

UNEMPLOYMENT GRAVE IN PERU, IS REPORT

Lima, Peru—The temporary closing of several factories in this capital has increased the already grave problem of unemployment. In recognition of this, the government has undertaken to furnish passage at the expense of the state to workers now lacking employment, who wish to move from Lima to other industrial centers of the country.
